National Child Sexual Exploitation Working Group

Survey of Child Protection Committees

To Review Process and Practices in Relation to Child Sexual Exploitation

April 2019

INTRODUCTION

Scotland's second national Child Sexual Exploitation action plan – the National Action Plan to Prevent and Tackle Child Sexual Exploitation – was published in March 2016 to drive activities between 2016 and 2019.

The National Action Plan contains 44 actions and Action 1 is to 'Develop a set of indicators to measure progress towards achieving the outcomes in this plan'. Delivering on this action, there are two strands of work:

- The Child Protection Improvement Programme's development of a Minimum Dataset for Child Protection Committees involves work to identify robust measures that provide understanding of the scale and nature of Child Sexual Exploitation in local authority areas and across Scotland.
- Surveys of Scotland's Child Protection Committees to understand the multi-agency approach to delivering against the National Action Plan's four intermediate outcomes in their local areas.

CHILD SEXUAL EXPLOITATION SURVEY FOR CHILD PROTECTION COMMITTEES

Of the second strand of work, this survey follows the first, baseline survey of Scotland's Child Protection Committees completed in summer 2016. Developed by the CSE Data Indicators Sub-Group¹ of the National Child Sexual Exploitation Group, the purpose of this survey is to understand the improvements that have been achieved over the duration of the National Action Plan.

Where possible, the same questions from the 2016 baseline survey have been used but the structure of the survey has been changed to align with The Quality Framework for Children and Young People in Need of Care and Protection (Care Inspectorate, July 2018) and its headline questions and indicators:

- What key outcomes have we achieved? Indicator 1: Key performance outcomes.
- How well do we meet the needs of our stakeholders? Indicator 2: Impact on children, young people and families; Indicator 3: Impact on staff; and Indicator 4: Impact on the community.

¹ The CSE Date Indicators Sub-Group has membership from Barnardo's, Care Inspectorate, CELCIS, NSPCC, Scottish Government and University of Stirling.

- How good is the delivery of our services for children, young people and families? Indicator 5: Delivery of key processes.
- How good is our operational management? Indicator 6: Policy, service developments and legal measures; Indicator 7: Management and support to staff; Indicator 8: Resources and capacity building.
- How good is our leadership? Indicator 9: Leadership and direction.

The revised structure is designed to support local areas in their continuous improvement and self-evaluation activities (with the Child Sexual Exploitation Core Components Checklist for Child Protection Committees developed by the National CSE Group a key resource) and during Joint Inspections of Services for Children and Young People.

Alongside the survey's organisation around the Care Inspectorate's Quality Framework, cross-reference has also been made to the National Action Plan outcomes to enable reporting on the progress made towards achieving the outcomes in the Plan. The four intermediate outcomes set out in the National Action Plan are:

- The risk that children and young people are exploited is eliminated through a focus on early identification and prevention.
- Children and young people at risk of or affected by sexual exploitation and their families receive appropriate and high quality support.
- Perpetrators are stopped, brought to justice and are less likely to re-offend.
- Cultural barriers to preventing and tackling CSE are reduced.

Child Protection Committees are asked to complete this survey by 12th July 2019 to enable analysis in time for the third annual progress report of the National Action Plan. Please return to: celcis.protectingchildren@strath.ac.uk
